

Preparing your veggie plot for Spring

Firstly remove weeds, preferably removing any flowering weed gently by pulling them out. Place a plastic bag over the plant so the seeds don't drop back into your garden and once you get them out by the roots, throw them in the plastic bag in the bin.

Dig up the soil with a spade or garden fork until it is loose and about the depth of the spade.

Spread compost or well-rotted manure across the soil and work in with the garden fork. Finish by raking the soil level and water in well. Ideally, leave the garden bed for a few days before planting your seeds or seedlings in the fresh soil.

Enjoy the fruits of your labour with fresh healthy veggies in the following weeks.
